Dear Mom,

Sorry not to have written before but I'm feeling better now and am going to be okay. I'm still in Da Nang but perhaps they'll be starting me on my way home soon.

I'm lucky it wasn't any worse but I've lost my right leg and the sight of my right eye. Don't worry about it - please as I'll make out all right. The doctors say that I'll be walking again soon after I get to the Hospital in the States and my left eye is great.

It's good to think of seeing you all soon - and I'll write again as soon as I can.

Yours Loving Son John

Your son does look better and more comfortable. We all hope he will soon be on his way home to you.
