

A Magical Being

One day a baby princess was born in a huge castle. The castle was 45 stories tall and it was made of gold. The princess was called Diamond. The king and queen had a big party, they invited everyone including the Sugar Plum Fairies. One fairy gave her beauty. The second fairy gave her love. The third one gave her smartness. When the fourth fairy came up, she gave the baby the power to turn into a unicorn. She could fly anywhere anytime.

Diamond grew into a beautiful young lady. She was 18 when her parents told her about her power. She asked how her power worked and her parents said to her "just think how you want the power to work". So, she thought of how she could help people with her power.

Then Diamond parents told her about the Sugar Plum Fairies. So she set of on an adventure to find them. Diamond looked in the tower where her great great grandmother {as they call her}, Sleeping Beauty pricked her finger. The fairies were not there. She looked high and low, to and fro but she didn't find them.

Diamond forgot about her power. She flew over the forest. She saw the fairies in the company of many unicorns. They all chanted "our queen has come"! As much as she wanted to be the queen she wanted to go home. She brought all the unicorns home to meet her parents. The king and queen let all the unicorns stay. They all lived happily ever after.

THE END.
